

INVERSION

We seldom stay at home since we bought the car.

Seldom _____

She rarely visits us.

Rarely _____

If she should arrive on time, tell her we'll meet at the market.

Should _____

If you had paid on time, you wouldn't have been cut off.

Had _____

If I were you, I'd accept the offer.

Were _____

He felt so unwell that he had to cancel their date.

So _____

He works so hard that he'll soon be promoted.

So _____

He took such a long holiday that he forgot how to do his job.

Such _____

We had such a bad time that we never set foot in the place again.

Such _____

Edna won't leave the house under any circumstances.

Under no circumstances _____

I won't tell lies under any circumstances.

Under no circumstances _____

We went and helped them too.

Not only _____

He's a fine tennis player and a good footballer as well.

Not only _____

I had no idea that John was a musician.

Little _____

He didn't know about the results of the test.

Little _____

I didn't expect that they would throw a surprise party for my birthday.

Little _____

We won't tell anybody the good news until it's certain it's true.

Not until _____

He didn't see the lorry until it was too late.

Not until _____

As soon as he was promoted, he started behaving arrogantly.
No sooner _____.
As soon as the teacher entered the classroom, the students stood up.
No sooner _____.
As soon as he got into the bath the phone rang.
No sooner _____.

Here/ comes/the queen! _____
Here/comes/she! _____
Here/the king/comes! _____
There/he/goes. _____
Here/your pen/is. _____
Here/it/is. _____
Out/you/go. _____
Out/the student/goes. _____
There/goes/your train. _____

A:Peter hates talking in front of large crowds.
B: _____
A:I really like this new author.
B: _____
A:I haven't got a ticket for the school play.
B: _____
A:I'm going to the train station.
B: _____
A: Mary hasn't been to Jill's new house yet.
B: _____
A:I can't understand what Henry's saying.
B: _____
A:Barney's joined the local basketball team.
B: _____
A:Emily's afraid of spiders.
B: _____
A:I drink at least eight glasses of water every day.
B: _____(Thomas)
A:Bob spent all his money on computer magazines.
B: _____
A:We couldn't go to Rick's Halloween party.
B: _____
A:I would like to see the performance at the Magic Theatre.
B: _____
A:I haven't seen Uncle Ben for over six months.
B: _____